

RUGBY: L'AQUILANO MASI GIOCHERA' CON I LONDON WASPS

10 Luglio 2012

L'AQUILA - Il club inglese ha annunciato l'ingaggio dell'estremo italiano Andrea Masi. Tutti lo davano in dirittura d'arrivo alle Zebre, anzi, era nella lista dei giocatori in rosa diffusa a fine giugno, invece....

Alle Vespe Masi ritroverà il suo compagno e amico Fabio Staibano, con lui agli Aironi.

Ecco il comunicato del club londinese

he 69-times capped Masi has represented Italy at three World Cups and was named the RBS Six Nations Player of the Championship in 2011, becoming the first Italian to ever win the award.

Spells at Viadana, Biarritz and Racing Metro have given Masi excellent experience in the European game, and he joins London Wasps from Aironi. He will link up with fellow Italian international Fabio Staibano who arrived at the Club earlier this summer also from Aironi.

Director of Rugby Dai Young said: "Andrea is a versatile player with proven quality and he will be bringing with him some vital experience from the highest level of the game. We are always looking to add real international quality to our squad and I see him as giving us great depth in our back-line."

Masi added: "I am really excited and honoured to be joining such a great European club and I am hoping that I can add something to the club both on and off the field."

(fonte: il grillotalpa.it)